Larry Basbas,
Associate Pastor

Dear Parishioners,

From October...To November... with Love

Happy Halloween, everyone! And THANK YOU to all the parents and children who came out last Friday for our annual Trunk or Treat, a much-beloved event that was cancelled last year due to the pandemic. It brings me tremendous JOY to have Trunk or Treat and other OLPH traditions, as well as various parish ministries, back into full swing. Let's keep the hope & spirit alive and never stop sharing the LOVE!

LOVE happens to be the central message of this week's gospel from Mark. In this powerful passage, Jesus commands us to love the Lord our God with all our heart, with all our soul, with all our mind, and with all our strength. But loving God in this way also means following another commandment: that is, to love our neighbor as ourself. Many of us don't have a problem with loving God. We wouldn't be coming to church nor would we bother to pray if we didn't. However, many of us have difficulty with the second part of the greatest commandment: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

Why does Jesus have to add that second one? Couldn't he just have stopped after referencing the passage from Deuteronomy (the most well-known prayer in Judaism called the "Shema")? Well, evidently not. Think about this: how hypocritical would it be to praise the Lord but at the same time have no care for the needs of the poor, the sick, the abandoned, the persecuted, and the marginalized? Or how about piously receiving the Eucharist at Mass, but coming out of church still fostering so much bitterness and contempt? Or how about studying Scripture, yet not living out the gospel in both word and deed... not being empathetic, charitable, or forgiving? I think we all know such scenarios make no sense. This is why Jesus adds the second 'commandment' not as some kind of "extra" but to point to us that we can't have one without the other. We can't pretend that we're doing the first -- assuring ourselves how much we love God -- if we can't show that we're doing the second. Love of God is love of neighbor (and vice-versa).

There was plenty of love and care last Friday when the 7th Annual Solemn Vespers for the World Day of Prayer for the Care of Creation took place here at OLPH. The twice-postponed event was an ecumenical service to give thanks for God's gift of creation and to recognize the conservation efforts of God's people. It only makes sense for all of us to take action to save the Earth, OUR HOME. Our planet is a precious gift from God, and we have the responsibility to protect it from destruction and exploitation.

Cardinal Cupich and a delegation of Greek Orthodox clergy, including His Eminence Metropolitan Nathanael of Chicago and Rev. Rick Andrews from Saints Peter and Paul Greek Orthodox Church, graced us with their presence. The entire evening of prayer and talk was a huge undertaking that would not have been possible without the help of so many people in our parish. My heartfelt gratitude goes to Margie Andre and the Liturgy Committee, Karen Daniels, Terry Luc, Rob Orr, Jim Gelderman, the entire maintenance team, Jim Riley, Sr. Paulanne, Fr. Jim Barrett, and a number of volunteers for all the help they extended. As Winston Churchill once said, "We make a living by what we get, we make a life by what we give." [It is with sadness that on the same Friday evening of the Solemn Vespers, Margie Andre's mother, Marion Schmidt, passed away. We keep Margie and her family in our prayers.]

And so.. as we end the month of October, we can look forward to the many wonderful things November brings. I encourage everyone to attend one of our most beautiful and moving liturgical traditions -- the All Souls Mass, which will take place on Tuesday, November 2nd at 6:00PM. On this day we commemorate all the faithful departed and are reminded that we must never cease to pray for them. I shared in the past of a tradition we have in my family of serving on All Souls Day a particular dish that a loved one enjoyed when they were alive. As we give thanks to God for the meal we are about to eat, we also feel the presence of a departed loved one whose spirit is with us and comforts us.

The days may be shorter and the weather a bit colder, but that's no reason to be down. There is much to celebrate in addition to holidays and feast days. May we learn to adopt an "attitude of gratitude" not just on Thanksgiving Day but every day of our life.

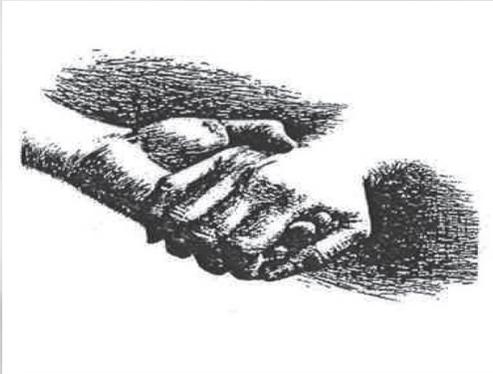

From October...To November... with Love

Fall Event Ten Days to Joseph Wrap-Up

Today is Day 10! Congratulations to everyone who participated virtually through the Daily Eblast or communally in the Lady Chapel

On Monday, Nov. 1, at 8:30 am Mass on the Feast of All Saints, we will be consecrated to St. Joseph as our Spiritual Father in Heaven. May you spend this final day in prayer with a joyful heart, reflecting on all you have learned from good St. Joseph. Revisit his virtues and the personal requests we made during the week below. Then, take some time to read and contemplate the Consecration Vow so you are ready on Monday. May God bless you! - The Hearts Afire Team.

St. Joseph is a...

Powerful Intercessor

St. Joseph, as the best of fathers, as the one God chose to be the virginal father of Jesus, I believe that you know what I need better than I do myself. So I give you permission St. Joseph to care for me as your child. In doing so, I trust that you will do everything in your power to make my life into something beautiful for God. I trust that you will watch over me and that your prayers will guide me, bless me, and protect me. I trust that you will now care for me with the same love and tenderness with which you cared for Jesus.

St. Joseph, Powerful Intercessor, please pray for me and all my intentions.

Loving Spouse of Mary

By your powerful prayers, I ask you St. Joseph to help me realize what a gift I have in Mary. Pray for me that I will better appreciate her motherly role in my life. St. Joseph, I know that you love her. I know it makes you happy to see her children love her with all their hearts. Therefore, as I prepare to consecrate myself totally to your fatherly care, I give you permission — in fact, I'm pleading with you: Help me to appreciate my Mother Mary even more.

St. Joseph, Loving Spouse of Mary, please help me to love my Spiritual Mother even more.

Good Provider

St. Joseph, with you as my Spiritual Father, I will do my best not to give in to useless anxiety about my job, money, or material things. I believe you will always make sure I have what I need, and as a good father, I ask that you indulge me a bit by even providing for my material wants, provided they don't take me away from Jesus.

St. Joseph, Good Provider, please provide for my needs through your powerful prayers.

Strong Guardian

St. Joseph, please pray that I will have the peace that comes from trusting in your fatherly protection. I believe that you will protect me from my enemies, seen and unseen. St. Joseph, I will do my best not to give in to fear, knowing that you are praying for me in a special way as a child who has formally consecrated himself to your fatherly care.

St. Joseph, Strong Guardian, please defend me with your prayers.

One Who did God's Will

Help me, St. Joseph. You see how weak and sinful I am. But teach me, good father. Help me to follow the commandments, and please make my heart sensitive to the inspirations of the Holy Spirit. I know that as I entrust myself to your care, you will guide me and show me how to always do God's will. I give you permission to redirect the stream of my life if it ever departs from God's most perfect will.

St. Joseph, who did God's will, please always keep me in God's most perfect will.

One Who Suffers with Love

St. Joseph, thank you for what you suffered in God's service, in union with your Son, for my salvation. I love you, St. Joseph. Thank you for your "Yes." Now, please help me to suffer with love as you did. When I suffer, help me not to complain. Dear St. Joseph, through my suffering, watch over my poor heart: May it not harden but rather become more merciful. Help me to remember all God's children who are suffering in the world, and help me to offer my suffering for them and for the good of the Church.

St. Joseph, who suffered with love, please help me also to suffer with a love like yours. Amen. +

seek, share, rejoice - ten days to joseph, upcoming events...

Pure of Heart

I rely on you, St. Joseph. Don't let me fall. Don't let my eyes or thoughts wander. If they do, please bring them back to Jesus. I trust in you, St. Joseph. You lived purely with Mary in the midst of her beauty. Help me to see the beauty of others with your own pure vision. Give me this grace as my dear Spiritual Father. I trust in you, St. Joseph.

St. Joseph, Pure of Heart, please lend me your own purity of heart.

Man of Peace & Joy

St. Joseph, please pray for me that I keep my joy and not give in to sadness, laziness, or discouragement. Also, pray that I keep my peace of soul and not hold on to anger and bitterness in my heart. Help me to be merciful to everyone by offering forgiveness that I might also, like you, be filled with peace and joy.

St. Joseph, Man of Peace and Joy, please put me at peace and help me find joy.

One Who Died So Beautifully

Prepare me for my death, whenever it may be. If it is sudden, please make sure that my soul is prepared, and please make sure I will not be lost! Dear St. Joseph, obtain this grace for me as I consecrate myself to your fatherly care.

St. Joseph, who died so beautifully, please prepare my soul for death.

Through the intercession of St. Joseph, may the Lord bless you, protect you from all evil, and bring you to everlasting life. Amen.+

- Praying for me constantly in a special way

- Providing for me and all my loved ones
- Guarding and protecting me from bodily and spiritual evil
- Guiding me to always do God's most perfect will

Homily by Cardinal Cupich
VESPERS FOR THE CARE OF CREATION
Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church
October 22, 2021

It is always good to be together, something we appreciate all the more given the experience of the pandemic, which has kept us apart. My warmest welcome to my brother Metropolitan Nathanael, and all those in his community who have joined us.

This evening we highlight the importance of “harmony and mutual encouragement” among religious leaders and the scientific community as it relates to combatting our current ecological crisis. We take our inspiration from St. Paul, who implores his fellow Christians in Rome to live in “perfect harmony” with one another. He particularly urges them to be patient with and encourage each other.

Nearly 2000 years later, the Greek Orthodox and Roman Catholic Churches honor this good counsel by our commitment to gather together as Christian brothers and sisters every year to join hands and hearts in common cause to care for God’s wondrous creation and at the same time give witness to our belief in the interconnectedness of all that God has made.

As important as our local efforts are, we continue to be impacted by the witness and leadership of Pope Francis and Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew for Creation care. For example, on October 4, the feast of St. Francis of Assisi, the Holy Father and the Ecumenical Patriarch joined other Christian and religious leaders at the Vatican to encourage each other as people of faith committed to addressing the climate crisis we now face. Each spoke out of the respective riches of his or her own religious tradition and all arrived at a similar conclusion, we must speak together as religious leaders about the perils of climate change, particularly about its impact on the most vulnerable among us.

“Recognizing that the world is interconnected means not only realizing the harmful effects of our actions, but also identifying behaviors and solutions to be adopted, in an attitude of openness to interdependence and sharing. We cannot act alone, for each of us is fundamentally responsible to care for others and for the environment. This commitment should lead to an urgently needed change of direction, nurtured also by our respective religious beliefs and spirituality.” [Pope Francis, 10/4/21 Address]

Cardinal Cupich with Metropolitan Nathanael at OLPH

That gathering, like our ecumenical gathering tonight, should impress upon us all that the time for acting alone to address climate change is no longer an option, we should and must work together.

Let me highlight three insights offered in our readings tonight and echoed by recent statements of religious leaders. The first is an appreciation of the spiritual understanding of the “interconnectedness of all,” central themes at the interreligious gathering on October 4, in Laudato Si and in the creation account from Genesis 1:1-2:3.

In the very first lines of the Bible we hear the refrain “and God saw that it was good,” which is repeated throughout the first chapter of Genesis. Waters, Land, Creatures, Plants: an interconnected matrix of creation willed by God – all created before humans.

As Pope Francis underscored in remarks for the October 4 gathering, the interconnectedness of our world has a deeply spiritual meaning for us. “We recognize the signs of divine harmony present in the natural world, for no creatures are self-sufficient; they exist only in dependence on each other, complementing one another and in the service of one another.” (cf., LS 86)

It is this recognition that gives Christian spirituality the passion to care for and protect the world and all humans and impels us to reconcile our personal values with our everyday practices. As such, Christian spirituality ignites personal and social love (cf., LS 231), because it favors “sobriety and humility” at a personal level (LS 224), while increasing “the capacity for living together in communion” (LS 228), moving from indifference to loving awareness, and from individualism to solidarity (cf., LS 220). But for our spirituality to be authentically Christian it must be radical, equal to the radical changes we must make to save human society and our common home. It must be a radical spirituality that is unafraid to speak of the need for sacrifice as a vital element that must occupy a central role in the transition to a sustainable planet with a just economy. Too often sacrifice is a topic that is usually avoided in discussions of how to meet the ecological crises. Some fear that if we call people to make personal sacrifices to promote an equitable economy, we will make it more difficult to form a consensus supporting climate justice or such a call will be distorted by climate deniers to make the pathway to sustainability seem impossible.

But the world's great religious and ethical traditions know the value of sacrifice and we can do a great service to humanity by recovering these traditions. It might seem that a society such as ours has lost its capacity for sustained sacrifice, or at least lost sight of the ennobling role that sacrifice can play in our individual and communal lives. But if we look more deeply, we find in the enormous sacrifices that families make for their children a proclamation that sustained sacrifice is in fact all around us.

This is the lynchpin for building a public ethic of sacrifice in pursuit of a just and sustainable world. Pope Francis devotes tremendous attention in Laudato Si' to the ethic of intergenerational responsibility, which is ultimately rooted in the spirituality of sacrifice for those who will inherit the planet. We must be willing to publicly advance such an ethic, not as a position we grudgingly acknowledge the need for, but as the great moral call of our age.

A second theme to consider is the value of collaborative dialogue among religious leaders and scientific experts.

As we heard in the first reading, Paul insisted that the Christians of Rome live in harmony, mutually supporting and encouraging one another. His admonition compels us to do likewise. Reading the signs of our current times, it is vital that we integrate not only our shared spiritual wisdom in seeking the harmony we require to address climate change, but the knowledge of the scientific community as well. We must resist pitting scientific truth against religious truth, as some seem to do today.

One obvious example is the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic and the amazing advances of the scientific community in developing effective vaccines for the pandemic.

Tonight, we also need to highlight the overwhelming consensus of the scientific community that we have arrived at a moment of climate crisis that needs our immediate attention if we want to harbor any hope of averting this crisis for present and future generations.

I look forward to hearing the insights of tonight's speaker, Doug Farr, whose architectural work applies scientific advances to lessen the impact of ecological concerns.

A final theme to ponder is the need to understand the imperative of addressing climate change as it relates to our preferential option for people who are poor.

Recall the first line of Psalm 41, which appeared near the outset of our Vespers tonight. To quote: "Happy the man who considers the poor and the weak. The Lord will save him in the day of evil, will guard him, give him life..." The Psalmist here reminds us that those who have been gifted with resources and means have the duty to address the needs of people who are poor and vulnerable in their midst.

Earlier I noted that we should recover the insights of the world's great religious and ethical traditions that call us to individual and societal sacrifice to save our planet. Those same spiritual and moral traditions are equally united in demanding that the marginalized must not bear heavy burdens in moving to planetary sustainability. Catholic social teaching identifies this concern as the preferential option for people who are poor.

In this first of its kind joint statement, Pope Francis, Archbishop of Canterbury Justin Welby and Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew encouraged Christians to pray that world leaders at the United Nations Climate Change Conference (COP26) in Glasgow make courageous choices which would benefit those most impacted by climate change, namely poor people.

"We call on everyone, whatever their belief or world view, to endeavor to listen to the cry of the Earth and of people who are poor, examining their behavior and pledging meaningful sacrifices for the sake of the Earth which God has given us," the message said.

The statement also makes clear that those most impacted by the devastating effects of climate change are those least at fault for it. It therefore calls on wealthy nations to take responsibility for their actions out of a sense of justice and make the requisite changes needed to heed the cries of people who are poor.

Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, Pope Francis and other religious leaders have been clear about the interconnected nature and complexity of the challenges we face, and the need to address them in unity, ever mindful that it is in God we trust. It is up to us to put aside any false idols and continually respond to the call to take up the mission of promoting a more just, equitable and loving future. Let us be reminded that the mission to care for each other and for the Earth belongs to each and everyone of us. Let our faith ignite us to take bold action, grateful for the contributions of science and undaunted to make the sacrifices required to save the planet. And let us not be discouraged by the work ahead. Instead, let us trust and rejoice in God's promise to make all things new (Rev. 21:5), and take to heart the encouragement the Holy Father offers when he tells us that in spite of the practical relativism and consumer culture we live in, "all is not lost. Human beings," he notes, "while capable of the worst, are also capable of rising above themselves and their mental and social conditioning, choosing again what is good, and making a new start. No system can completely suppress our openness to what is good, true and beautiful, or our God-given ability to respond to his grace at work deep in our hearts. I appeal to my sisters and brothers throughout the world not to forget this dignity which is ours" (LS 205).

Last Friday night, the Catholic and Greek Orthodox communities of greater Chicagoland joined together at OLPH for an ecumenical service to give thanks for God's gift of creation and to recognize the conservation efforts of His disciples. His Eminence Cardinal Blase J. Cupich presided at this service and was honored to be joined by His Eminence Metropolitan Nathanael of Chicago.

End of Year Giving

Please consider making a QCD gift to our parish

Making a gift from your IRA can benefit you and our parish. An IRA charitable rollover, also known as a qualified charitable distribution (QCD), allows individuals age 70½ or older to authorize their IRA administrator to make a direct transfer of funds from their IRA to qualified charities, tax-free.

There are three main benefits of giving with a QCD:

- (1) If you are 72 years old or older, the amount you transfer can satisfy all or part of your required minimum distribution.
- (2) The amount transferred directly to charity does not generate taxable income, which may reduce your annual income level. This may help lower your Medicare premiums and decrease the amount of Social Security that is subject to tax.
- (3) Your gift will be immediately used, allowing you to see the impact of your gift now.

*If you wish to have your QCD gift qualify for the current tax year, we recommend submitting your request to your IRA administrator by December 1st.***

If you would like more information on making a QCD gift, please contact Mary Lynne Januszewski, Director of Finance and Operations, at 847-729-2934, or email mjanuszewski@olphglenview.org

Drive-In Mass Update: Safety Issues

Now that that seasons are changing, our priests and lectors will be moving inside for the Saturday evening Drive-In Mass. Parishioners will be able to view them from the third floor windows in the Parish Center.

An image from last winter depicting Fr. Patrick Kizza presiding over Mass from the 3rd floor. Our lector was Gabriella Barretto.

The darkness will also mean that car drivers must be extra mindful of our priest and Eucharistic Ministers as they walk through the parking lot and deliver communion.

To all drivers, please:

- 1) Be mindful of priests/ministers on both sides of the car.
- 2) Put the car in PARK while receiving communion.
- 3) Check to make sure everyone in the car has finished receiving communion and be especially aware of anyone receiving communion in the back seat.
- 4) Look and see that the priest/minister has stepped back and away from your car before putting your car back in gear.
- 5) Only then, proceed forward and exit the parking lot.

We are always trying to create the best experience possible for parishioners attending our Drive-In Mass and all of our liturgies. Safety is the first and most important priority for everything we do. Adhering to strict safety measures makes everything we do possible.

Thank you for helping to ensure the safety of our priests, staff, and volunteers.

And make sure to tune your radio to 95.7 FM.

The Sharing Ministry

Fall Reopening of Sharing Resource Center

We are happy to report that the Sharing Resource Center (Sharing Room) will be reopening on Sunday morning, Nov. 21. Due to space limitations and staffing, we will only be accepting food. The room will be open for donation during designated days and times.

We are not yet able to accept clothing or housewares donations. Those will resume when the room becomes fully available for intake and sorting, and adequate volunteer staffing is in place. Watch future bulletins for more details.

FALL FOOD DRIVE – Sundays, Oct. 31 through Nov. 21

We are very excited to announce that Guild 30 will once again be organizing the Fall Food Drive. Look for the truck on the parking lot on Sunday mornings, starting Oct. 31.

Help fill the truck with non-perishables which will be delivered directly that day to a sharing parish pantry. Sunday's donations will be delivered to St. Josephine of Bakhita, formerly St. Philip Neri. This parish, located at 2132 E. 72nd. St, serves an impoverished African American community. The pantry has particular need for instant mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, cornbread, canned vegetables, including yams, and canned fruit.

Next Sunday's donations will be delivered to St. Sabina's, 1210 W. 78th Place, Chicago, a primarily African American community. Their pantry director indicates they are currently most in need of rice, oatmeal, cereal, peanut butter and jelly, tuna, salmon and spaghetti.

Befriend a Family Holiday Help

We are looking for donors to provide holiday support for needy families at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter. We would like to support as many as 175 families from our sharing parishes as well as local families served by Sr. Paulanne. This year all giving will be through gift cards for Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter.

Needy families are supported through gift cards for food, Christmas gifts and perhaps other essentials.

We assign families based upon your preference for family size. You can also decide if you want to support a local family or one through our sharing parishes. You will receive a family profile. Giving is done anonymously and remains ongoing at holiday times until donors opt out.

The holidays seem miles away, but it takes a while to coordinate all components of this program.

Contact Stacy Dolan, stacydolan5@aol.com to learn more.

Men's Club Coat Drive

This Sunday Morning 10/31 and Next Sunday Morning Time to clean out your closets and donate winter outerwear to the Men's Club Coat Drive. These donations will be delivered to our sharing parishes for distribution to the needy. Bless you for remembering the less fortunate.

Clothing and Housewares Donations

Glenview Community Church Resale Shop, New to You

While the Sharing Room remains closed, consider donating your new or very gently used, in trend, clean items to the Glenview Community Church Resale Shop, New to You, located at 1000 Elm St.

They will be accepting donations on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays between 9:00 am and 1:00 pm and on Thursdays from 9:00 am until 5:00 pm. Please mark your donations, OLPH, so that Sr. Paulanne will receive 50% of proceeds for her work with the needy.

Brown Bag Meals for the Homeless

Hungry, homeless people come to the rectory doors and visit the parish food pantries of our four sharing parishes daily in search of food. Our Sharing Parishes are often able to respond with brown lunch bags filled with non-perishable food. Sr. Paulanne also regularly distributes these bags to local needy. Consider making up a few or get a group together and make up even more. These bags filled with non-perishables are easy to assemble and should contain:

- Pre-packaged tuna salad or chicken salad with crackers
- Trail mix
- Peanut butter or cheese and crackers
- 100% juice in box or can
- Dried fruit
- Fruit cup or applesauce
- Plastic spoon and napkin

Optional:

- Candy, Power bars, Granola bars

Please use larger sized lunch bags and double the bags for durability. To learn more, Contact Julie Cooper, 847-909-0661.

Catholic Charities – Feed the Homeless

We are looking for three volunteers to help with serving dinner to the homeless who visit Catholic Charities/Des Plaines on any of the following dates:

- November 18
- December 9.

We are also looking for donors willing to fund such dinners as we work to secure dates we will serve in 2022, each costing $600.

Please contact Kathy Quinn, khquinn1944@comcast.net for further information.

Glenview Chamber of Commerce Holiday in the Park and Parade.

OLPH will be marching in the Chamber of Commerce Holiday Parade, starting at 4:00pm on Saturday, November 27.

All parishioners are welcome to join us. Bring the whole family and dress up in your most festive Christmas attire!

More details to come!

Thank You!

Thanks to the overwhelming generosity of OLPH parishioners and the Glenview community, last month's OLPH Laundry Drive, sponsored by Guild 35 of the OLPH Women's Club, was a terrific success!

Over 22,000 loads of laundry detergent were received!

With so many people in the community struggling to have clean clothing, these donations will make a huge difference! Detergent donated through the drive will benefit families through the parish center at OLPH and their four Sharing parishes (Mother of the Americas (formerly Our Lady of Tepeyac), St. Sabina, St. James, St. Josephine Bakhita (formerly St. Philip Neri).

On behalf of the drive's co-chairs, Whitney Chango and Katie Santucci, and all of Guild 35, thank you to the community for your beyond generous donations! We are so grateful!

Thank you so much!
Katie Santucci
